We listen to you, the customer...

"Our vision here at PPd is to encourage companies to break the mould in terms of allowing what a warehouse management system is capable of."

Platform Development
Sam Cornish

Pick Pack Direct, or PPd for short is a UK based warehouse management system provider that up until February of 2019 was just a project that gained a lot of attention nationwide.

While that does mean we're a relatively new company, our years of experience in the field means we are more than up to the task. This is evident as our warehouse management system is tested and implemented within a multitude of warehouses around the UK already.

We encourage commitment at PPd, we enjoy being able to grow with your business and take pride in forming a meaningful relationship.

Communication is a key element for us as it grants the customer the assurance that we will always be available to deal with any issues as they arise.

We're unique in how we work, we're happy to customise our software to fit a customers specific needs, PPd is highly adaptable in how it can be implemented within a company.

Increased Efficiency leads to an Increase in Profit

One of the biggest questions revolving around warehouse and stock management is, "can we be more efficient?" Typically, the answer is a yes, which is where we come in.

PPd grants business owners a login which gives them the ability to track their stock as it flows around the warehouse in real time, with easy to read graphs and charts. This eliminates the need to compile bloated, hard to read reports as our customers can quickly log in and find the specific information they require, at any point throughout the day.

Through the information compiled by PPd, users will be able to find out what's working well and what needs improvement within their warehouses. Armed with this information businesses can make positive changes, increasing both profit and efficiency.

We give our customers the freedom to take control of their own businesses.

Automate The Process

Pick Pack Direct is unique in many ways, one of them is through our ecological stance through creating a method of paperless warehousing. We realise the huge amount of paper being used is having devastating effects on our planet and we want to make sure PPd isn't part of that problem.

The way in which we combat paper strewn warehouses is through a simple yet effective tagging system. Each tag has its own unique bar-code attached to it that when scanned by a picker, lets both the PPd system and the picker know what that item is. Our system can then track specific tags as they are processed throughout the warehouse eliminating the need for pick tickets as it's all available on demand and instantly.

Our tags are reusable, durable and easier to work with. Providing our customers with a cleaner way to manage and work while bringing their warehouses into the 21st Century is a key focus for us at PPd.

PPd has a myriad of features, let us tell you all about them.

COMPLETE PRODUCT MANAGEMENT FROM START TO FINISH

Condense all aspects of warehouse operation into one easy to manage software.

Pick Pack Direct is an all in one, web based warehouse management system, we've had customers from a wide variety of industries give us a problem and we've managed to use PPd software to find a solution every time. This is through our modular and highly adaptable software, if no other business can do it then PPd has the answer.

In terms of warehouse management, multiple consignment stock is a specialty of ours, giving businesses the freedom to make the most of their warehouse while not worrying about their system failing is the quality we guarantee. Our system can identify which stock is from a specific supplier and makes sure to only allow a picker to pick the specific suppliers products when a sale is made.

Perishable stock is a difficulty for many warehouses. Finding a system that can focus on expiration dates is a challenge but PPd can do just that. With our First Expired, First Out software the system will be able to know what items in a warehouse are going to expire first as the information will be stored within our tag system. PPd will prioritise these items so that if any of that perishable item is bought, the priority product will be the one with the closest expiration date.

We make sure that our systems are fully scalable to fit the growth of our customers. Ensuring that no matter how many orders a company may get, our management systems will be there to help every step of the way. Dealing with multi-sku products is something our software is more than capable to deal with as well, an example from a current system we have in place is there are two TV's the same make but different refurb levels. Our system can differentiate the two and individually pick them out allowing for less confusion when re-selling.

Through our agile project management methodology, our customers will be allowed into their management systems within the first weeks of a deal being made. The system will then be built upon as it is being used, allowing PPd to focus on pressing issues as they arise and implement features that are highly anticipated with greater efficiency.

Pick Pack Direct is a complete package, allowing businesses to exceed their limits and grow at a faster pace through our easy to use system and highly customisable software.

MODULES

Sometimes, aspects of your business may fall outside of the traditional packages PPd offer.

This is not an issue however, PPd is built to allow for custom modules to be implemented into the base software, allowing for all the specific requirements your businesses needs to be accounted for in a single piece of software.

Think of it like adding a browser extension, everything still works as intended, except there is an added feature to provide assistance now.

Some examples of this custom work are allowing a print management system for a magazine ordering business and setting up custom feeds between existing databases so they all work in tandem.

OUR VISION

To provide businesses with the necessary tools to efficiently and effectively manage their warehouses.

SERVICES

Aside from our software, we have built a strong, experienced team who are able to assist businesses with the various other duties surrounding warehousing. At Pick Pack Direct, we enjoy working with organisations to streamline their operations and pass our experience on.

PALLET MANAGEMENT

With our network of customers throughout the UK, Pick Pack Direct is able to fill excess space in competitively priced pallet storage and management.

Our services can provide short term storage or a longer term pick and pack solution. We have a variety of respected customers whose capabilities are endless.

WAREHOUSE SETUPS

Is a new warehouse on the horizon? Or are you thinking about reconfiguring your existing warehouse? Our knowledge and experience gives us the opportunity to assist in warehouse setups in anything from layouts to implementing software and processes.

We are proud of what our customers have achieved when following them through their warehousing journey.

CONSULTING

With our experienced staff working on projects involving well-known brands, we have accumulated a vast wealth of knowledge that businesses looking for guidance or support can access.

We don't limit ourselves to the UK, PPd can consult with any sized project within any industry. Previous projects include normal pick pack operations all the way through to engineering organisations with internal operations.

TRAINING PACKAGES

The relationship we have with our customers is an ongoing commitment. If required, we can hold onsite training or training in our 20 seater facility. These sessions can be for initial training all they way through to a refresher course if necessary.

Training is catered for everyone involved with the Pick Pack Direct system so that every job role can perform to the highest standard.

Our work comes highly recommended, these are some statements from a selection of our valued customers.

TESTIMONIALS ABOUT OUR SERVICES

iXus Group

"iXus Group moved to PPd about 12 months ago during its startup phase and we can honestly say it has changed the way we work completely.

Picking, packing and dispatching has never been so easy, tracking every movement of the items until they get to our customers.

It has allowed us to move towards a paperless warehouse for incoming and outgoing stock with 100% traceability."

Prime Pac Solutions

"With excellent Customer Service the PPd team implemented an excellent system of order processing, stock control through to despatch and delivery, that has totally supported Primepac before during and after implementation. And all this was done with a very short timescale."

Aquatix-2u

"Pick Pack Direct has provided us with an original and ever evolving WMS solution that continues scale as our business grows."

Quality Assurance. Examples of happy customers.
